A REPUBLICAN TRICK Efforts to Create an Impression That Is Wrong.

THE ADMINISTRATION ATTITUDE.

Story That the President Is Soon to Publicly Advise Gold Democrats to Vote for McKinley-Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 17 .- (Spe working hard to create the impres-gion that the administration will instruct the off -hoiders and advise the gold of the National Democratic Convention, and to vote for McKinley and the Repubustriously circulating reports to the ef--t that there will be no independent emocratic gold ticket which Democrats and that this element of the Democratic party will swallow and solidly support southern policies of the Republican party, probable force bills included. It is even ven out that assurances to this effect have been given to the Republican managers, coming directly from administrasources in Washington, and they go so far as to state that the President himself has approved this course, and will in the near future write a letter for pubcation, advising all sound-money Demorats to vote for McKinley, CAPS THE CLIMAX.

CAPS THE CLIMAX.

A special to a morning paper from feveland, O., published to-day, caps the limax of the Republican efforts in this rection. It says that a gentleman, who s closely allied to the administration, the was then in Cleveland, but who would not permit the use of his name."

the course of the gold Democrats in the pending campaign."

Upon reading this extraordinary statement, a well-known Democratic office-holder here remarked in a tone of undisguised admiration: "Now, what do you think of that? Aint it a daisy? Bon't it take the cake?" The Innocence and frankness with which the announcement was made that Hanna had received "direct assurances from the administration," and that Mr. Hanna "need give himself no concern over the course of the gold Democrats," was shaply charming, and the writer was appropriately characterized accordingly. In fact, it was unanimously voted that he was entitled to a medal.

this city, and there is no reason why they should not do a large and successful business.

The Warehouse Committee is pushing ahead, and it is safe to say that Richmond, with four warehouses for the sale of bright loose tobacco and two for darks, all run by men of push and energy, will sell more pounds of the loose weed next season than she ever has.

The Tobacco Trade mourns the loss of another of its oldest and most highly esteemed members, yet not unexpectedly, in the death of Mr. W. T. Staples of Staples & Martin, formerly Staples & Blair, whose record and example was one of purity, rectitude, and charity, which he combined with high and unvarying business qualifications, and principles, which made him prosperous as man and merchant, none the less than beloved by his cotemporaries and friends. The Tobacco Exchange today passed appropriate resolutions on his death—President W. T. Hancock in the chair, with Captain Max. Clarke, Major J. M. Boykin, and W. G. Mullen the regular committee.

The hong-invalided wife of Mr. M. T. Smith was taken suddenly worse to-day, which called him at midday home from his office.

done, while others admit that the weather this week has been beneficial after the rains.

Mr. Gilliam, the noted shipping dark-tobacco buyer, says that probably 29 per cent. of the Southside dark crop, tributary to Farmville, is the extent of entailment by rains, but there is time for great improvement yet in the crop, which may mature well and thick enough, even without the dews. The general complaint among rehandlers and holders is the dulmess in and unsalability of even good dark lugs, while such investers can quite readily realize on their good to fine leaf grades. It is notable that some prominent tobactonists in the Eastern North Carolina bright belt, who wrote eight days ago in a very disparaging tone of the crop's condition, now write a correction, based on actual observation, that the crop is improving beyond expectation. The yield will be quite large, but the quality will possibly be thin. Another correspondent of a Richmond firm says as to Rocky Mount, N. C., that the crop seems almost perfect, and that new primings have been sold, with few who seem to want them yet. The fica-bug is doing some harm.

Mr. Killebrew, the late United States agricultural agent and statistician for tobacco, is expected daily in Richmond, to secure data for a new special book on tobacco generally of this country.
